An interview with our team members
Lena Stoffel and Aline Bock on page 10.

LENA STOFFEL

A major alpine ski talent turned top slopestyle skier turned pro freerider: Lena has ventured more and more into remote off-piste terrain – and into adventures. Together with Aline, she explores fascinating places and produces captivating films.

Here and Now

ALINE BOCK

Aline is not only one of Germany's best snowboarders and Freeride World Tour champ, she's also an avid surfer, biker and coffee consumer. For her 6-month road trip, she has loaded her CLIFF with boards, bikes and beans.

Be happy.

About the best wave in the ocean,
the perfect descent in powder
snow, the most beautiful sunset in the middle of nowhere.

About new places that you discover and breathtaking moments that you will experience. About a new adventure. Whenever you want.
With CLIFF, your new Camper Van by Sunlight.

Finally
A good feeling to arrive.
On the mountain. At the beach.
At yourself.

Anywhere
No place too far. ☺
No appointment too important.

Fantastic when the world awakes.

This is CLIFF. Your new way to get away.

The Camper Van is available in various sizes, layouts and with different engines, all of them developed and built for just one goal: being on the road.

"CLIFF is a pretty clever guy. I am constantly finding smart little details."

Alan, pro surfer

"It's a perfectly stress-free life because we are always at the right spot. We never have to worry about missing out or not being first at the lift on a pow day."

The two of you are travelling together a lot. Are you very much alike?

ALINE Oh, in many ways we're very much alike, and in many ways we aren't. Of course, there is our shared passion for sports. But the most important thing probably is that we have the same positive mindset and this thirst for adventure. We are super curious people. We want to see, explore and try out new stuff all the time.

Countries, people, cultures. And we both like freedom.

LENA Yes, I think that's a crucial thing that connects us. As freeriders we have found our place as athletes. We feel at home in the wild terrain, because it matches our character. We are freethinkers, if you like, or as we say, soulsurfers. We both moved away from competitive sports, independently of each other. Contests mean fixed schedules, fixed places, fixed training. Freeriding is more or less the contrary. Freeriding is rooted in flexibility and spontaneity. And, of course, in nature and having the best time.

But you aren't snow & surf bums who only care about hitting the snow or waves?!

ALINE No, absolutely not. Freethinking does not mean selfishness and soulsurfing is not about laziness. A film project is anything but a vacation trip. Yet, our job depends on being independent, spontaneous and free.

LENA And not just when it comes to chasing the best powder and the perfect wave. We're also chasing stories. Stories are what make trips memorable. Travelling can become a way of freeing your mind and opening yourself up for the new. For example, when we set off shooting our film "Way East" in Japan, we took a Geiger counter. We wanted to see and document for ourselves the impact of the Fukushima radioactive fallout.

It was your premier film "Way North" when you travelled with a Sunlight motorhome for the first time.

LENA Yes, and in the beginning we had our doubts. The boys from the film crew, Aline and I, travelling in an RV. But once we set off, the road trip feeling set in and we immediately felt at home. Today we cannot imagine travelling without a mobile home. Without the crew, CLIFF is just perfect. We are always spontaneous. We check the weather and just head for the best places. And then we are right there at the perfect spot: we park at the lift station or at the Fantastic waves in Cornwall, powder pleasure in Chamonix. Aline and Lena have seen the world's most fascinating spots – and other places, too. From Norwegian Fjords to Fukushima, their films capture a lot more than just riding action.

"For freeriders, flexibility also is a safety aspect. You pick those spots where you have the best and safest conditions."

beach and, in the morning, we get out, super relaxed, and are the first in the gondola or the sea.

ALINE And it's super comfortable, too. I remember surfing in cold wintertime on the Norwegian coast. When we arrived at the spot, some of the guys raised their eyebrows: two girls in a motorhome parking between their vans. But when they got out of the cold water they soon appreciated our spacious, cosy home. We asked them to join us for a coffee to warm-up and they loved it, of course. In return they told us the best insider tips... Larry broke the ice, if you like – or he warmed their hearts.

Larry?

LENA Yes, that's what we called our RV on our first Norway trip. I can't remember why though. And now we're excited about CLIFF. He might be smaller, but he's super compact and drives just great. When you open the side door, you have the kitchen right at the exit and it almost feels like cooking outside. And you can also lie in bed and open the back. Imagine parking CLIFF on a cliff with the sea-view from your bed.

ALINE CLIFF. I like the name. I don't know why, but I like the thought of my Camper Van being male. Maybe because it feels like travelling with a protector. I will soon set out on a six-month road trip all by myself, something I've never done before. It will be an adventure which can be very intimidating. So it's comforting to have CLIFF as a safe haven.

You will pack all your sports gear and drive down the European coast from north to south. Are there any other must-brings?

ALINE I'm such a coffee addict. I have numerous coffee machines and they have to come, coffee grinder, milk frother, beans – the whole repertoire.

Sounds like Café CLIFF?!

ALINE Yes (laughs). Who knows? Rolling Café CLIFF. Sounds great!

Everything at its place.

SOFT FURNISHING

Great to have the choice: CLIFF comes with high-quality and robust surfaces in different material and colour combinations.

LIVING SPACE

With its ergonomically designed and excellently manufactured furniture, the small room becomes a comfortable living space.

BATHROOM

The combination of shower, bathroom and toilet may also be used as additional storage space.

KITCHEN

The cooking area with 2-burner hob and compressor fridge is perfectly tailored to CLIFF's space concept.

BEDROOM

In the rear there are several bed versions available, lengthwise and crosswise, depending on the overall length of the vehicle.

Only you are everywhere.

2-burner hob
with glass lid

Everything on board. In a Camper Van.

You won't miss a thing. CLIFF's living space is perfectly designed and furnished with a host of smart solutions. Every day out in a Camper Van is a good day.

The living room with dining area and kitchen offers many technical details in a small space.

"I was more or less camping-bottle-fed. All our family vacations were camping trips."

You could sleep all day long. But you won't want to.

CLIFF's high-quality mattresses will make you sleep safe and sound. And with the ingenious bed systems, you can quickly make room for new adventures.

Combi 4 gas heating

Efficient heating makes CLIFF just as warm as it should be.

LED reading spotlights

When you read at night, you need a light. But only on the page itself. CLIFF shines with turnable, energy-saving LED reading spotlights.

Plenty of room. Thanks to numerous clever and variable solutions, CLIFF is a true miracle of space. There is even the possibility for an optional guest bed in the living space.

Here you are rolling in possibilities.

The small combination of bathroom and toilet does not only have many functional details, but can also be used as storage space. In short: a clean solution.

100l water tank

With the large tank you always have enough water on board.

Fixed washbasin and integrated shower

Same rule for the bathroom: the space might be limited – our solutions are not.

CLIFF Portfolio.
